Sociology and Anthropology

Faculty, Chair: Adler, Anderson, Bates, Clydesdale, Ismail, Kenen, Lawson, Robboy, Shanklin

Sociology is the study of group life. Thus, sociologists study the social and cultural forces which shape people’s behavior, beliefs, and relationships. This includes all types of social interaction—from economic to political to cultural, and the full range of social organization—from small groups to communities to nations. Sociologists emphasize the careful use of evidence and reason to expand our understanding of the social world. Sociology is a general liberal arts major appropriate for many jobs in industry, education, and government as well as for graduate study in administration, health, law, social work, and the social sciences.

Anthropology is the biological and cultural study of humanity. Anthropologists employ a holistic approach to the study of likenesses and differences among human beings, past and present. Physical anthropology, cultural anthropology, linguistics, and archaeology are the main subfields of anthropological inquiry. The combination of anthropology and sociology in this department affords students a unique breadth of exposure to the study of humans and their relationships.

Requirements for the Sociology Major

Ten sociology and anthropology courses, including SOCL/SOC 101/HONR 216, SOC 301, SOC 302, a Tutorial and SOC 499, and the remaining courses taken from the SOCL/ANTH options (at least three of which must be selected from the 300- or 400-level department offerings). Majors must also take STAT 115/STAT 116 or MATH125 or MAT 127/STA 215 as part of their general education requirements. No more than two (2) courses toward the major may be taken at other institutions. See also the departmental graduation standards.

Sociology Major/Social Work Concentration

The Department of Sociology and Anthropology also offers a pre-professional concentration for students planning careers as professional social workers. This concentration, which builds upon our general sociology requirements, guides students in the selection of courses which will best prepare them for graduate study in social work. Since there is considerable flexibility within this concentration, students are encouraged to meet with the department’s pre-social work coordinator to select courses and choose sub-concentrations.

Requirements for the Pre–Social Work Concentration

Ten courses are required, eight of which are taken within the department, and two taken from approved courses in psychology, political science, or law and justice. Thus, students in this concentration must take SOCL/SOC 101/HONR 216, SOCL 205, SOC301, SOC 302, SOCL305 and SOW 499 which includes a social work internship; and complete two courses from SOCL/ANTH options, from SOCL 210, SOCL315, SOCL 320, SOCL 334, SOCL 335, SOCL 340, SOCL 365, SOCL 370, SOCL 375, or SOCL 380. Students must also choose two additional courses from PSYC 222, PSYC 224, PSYC 252, PSYC 316, PSYC 325, PSYC 331, POLS 300, POLS 305, LAWJ 215 (OR LAWJ 305), LAWJ 230, LAWJ 255, and LAWJ 310. STAT 115/STAT 116 or MATH 125 or MAT 127/STA 215 are required as part of our major’s general education requirements, and students in this concentration are encouraged to choose biology as their natural sciences sequence. No more than two (2) courses toward the major may be taken at other institutions. See also the departmental graduation standards.

Program Entrance, Retention, and Exit Standards

Every major program at the College has set standards for allowing students to remain in that program, to transfer within the College from one program to another, and to graduate from a program. The following are the standards for sociology programs. Minimum grades are noted in parentheses:

- Retention in the program is based on the following performance standards in these “critical content courses”: SOC 301 (C), SOC 302 (C), and SOCL 205 (SOCW majors only; B–).
• Transfer in the program from another program within the College is based upon the following performance standards in these “foundation courses”: WRI 102 (B–), STAT 115 or MATH 125 or MATH 127 (C+), and SOCL/SOC 101/HONR 216 (B–).

• Graduation standards: requires a GPA of 2.0, in sociology courses. Only grades of C– or higher in SOCL/SOC, ANTH/ANT, or STAT/STA required courses can be applied toward graduation degree requirements. Students who want to apply a course toward graduation for which they received a D+ or lower must repeat the course, earning a higher grade.
