Women’s and Gender Studies

Faculty: Bennett, (Director), Gray, Friedman, Hopps, Jaksch, Landreau, Nicolosi, Rodriguez; Affiliated Faculty: Biggs, Boughn, Brown-Glaude, Carney, Chazelle, Figueroa, Graham, Gross, Hall, Haynes, Ortiz, Paces, Ricardi, Roberts, Robertson, Rosman-Askt, Ryan, Steele, Tarter, Thompson

The Women’s and Gender Studies major is interdisciplinary, offering over 90 courses in 15 programs and departments. Women’s and Gender Studies courses enable students to understand changing social patterns and the effects of institutions and culture on behavior. Courses explore how gender shapes social roles and identities as well as the function of race, class, and sexuality in the experience of gender within and across cultures. The major prepares students for a variety of professional and graduate schools as well as positions in corporations, government agencies, and service industries.

Requirements for the Major (10 course units)

- 4 Core Courses:
  - WGS 200/Women, Culture and Society: WGS 200 is an entry-level course that introduces students to the discipline of women’s studies. (This requirement may be waived for students who have taken two or more WGS courses before becoming a major.)
  - WGS 325/Feminist Theories
  - WGS 398/Feminism in the Workplace: Field Study in Women’s Studies

Program Entrance, Retention, and Exit Standards

Every major program at the College has set standards for allowing students to remain in that program, to transfer within the College from one program to another, and to graduate from a program. The following are the standards for Women’s and Gender Studies.

Minimum grades are noted in parentheses:

- Retention in the program is based on the following performance standards in these “critical content courses”: WGS 200/Women Culture and Society (C).
- Graduation requires a GPA of 2.0, in Women’s and Gender Studies courses and overall.

Women’s and Gender Studies Major Learning Goals

At the end of their program of study, Women’s and Gender Studies majors should be able to:

Women’s and Gender Studies

- Gain an understanding of gender as a central category of analysis that compels constant inquiry into the production and legitimation of knowledge
- Demonstrate knowledge of the historical development and contemporary scope of women’s studies as a discipline and current research on sexuality and gender
- Become fluent in feminist theories and their application across disciplines, as well as develop skills in feminist research methodology
- Analyze historical and contemporary systems of privilege and oppression, with special attention to the ways gender intersects with race, class, ethnicity, sexuality, religion, and nationality
- Gain a critical awareness of the instability of identity categories
- Understand how all fields of knowledge are partial, situated, and have a political nature
- Apply feminist theories and current research to transcultural and transnational analysis of gender, systemic oppression, and women’s resistance and agency
- Analyze how the media and other social institutions exert a shaping force on gender, and how, conversely, gender imperatives shape individuals, families, communities, and nations
- Demonstrate a grasp of the significance of women’s historical and contemporary contributions to culture and society
- Apply classroom learning to personal life, the workplace, the community, and political and civil institutions, with opportunities to study and participate in community-based learning, action-based research, political activism, and other social justice initiatives
