To meet the increased need for training in global perspectives, the interdisciplinary International Studies major educates students to appreciate the social, cultural, political, and economic characteristics of national, regional, and global communities. It is based on the conviction that historically informed and politically aware students with knowledge of more than one language will be able to think more critically and act more responsibly in a shrinking world. Students who successfully complete this major improve their opportunity for further study in graduate or professional school and careers in government service, private enterprise, international governmental and non-governmental organizations, non-profit education, research and advocacy organizations, and teaching.

Requirements for the Major

International studies majors take 12 courses: an introductory course; two courses each in the following four areas: economics/international business, history, modern languages, and political science; two related electives; and a capstone course. The language courses must be at the 200 level or above, and the history and political science courses must be at the 300 level or above. As part of the liberal learning requirements, it is recommended that students take microeconomics and statistics. These requirements differ slightly for the concentration in international economics and trade, which mandates three courses in economics/international business and one related elective.

Each student will select one major concentration from among six. Concentrations are offered in four geographic areas: Europe, Latin America and the Caribbean, the Middle East, and East Asia, and two functional subjects: diplomacy, and international economics and trade. Course requirements differ by concentration; please see the program planner for requirements. The related electives and the study abroad experience should be relevant to the concentration chosen.

Study abroad is an important component of the major. Students are required to demonstrate at least one semester of successful academic achievement in a foreign university relevant to their field of studies, although a year’s study is encouraged. Please consult your International Studies advisor and the Office of International and Off-Campus Programs for the most suitable site and program.

Elective courses in the major must have an international focus, complement the student’s interest within the major and receive prior approval by an International Studies advisor. Students are also encouraged to pursue an internship with an international focus.

Major Requirements

The requirements for the concentrations are as follows:

Program Entrance, Retention, and Exit Standards

Every major program at the College has set standards for allowing students to remain in that program, to transfer within the College from one program to another, and to graduate from a program. The following are the standards for international studies:

- Retention in the program is based on the following performance standards in these “critical content courses”: a grade of B- in 103-level language course and in INT 200 International Studies: Processes, Themes, Issues.
International Studies

- Transfer into the program from another program within the College is based upon the following performance standards in this “foundation course”: a grade of B- in the first 100-level language course taken.
- Graduation requires a GPA of 2.0 in courses for the program and a minimum grade of B- in 103-level language course and in INT 200 International Studies: Processes, Themes, Issues.

Suggested Four-Year Sequence for International Studies Majors

The following sequence is a suggestion only; students should craft a schedule to best meet their own needs. Students with a concentration in International Economics and Trade should take a third Economics or International Business course in lieu of one electives in the major. Note that “double counting” rules and the nine general elective courses allow students to pursue a second major and/or minors.

First Year

- FSP/First Seminar 1 course unit
- Foreign Languages* 2 course units
- INT 200/International Studies: Processes, Themes and Issues 1 course unit
- WRI 102/Academic Writing (if not exempted) 1 course unit
- Arts/Humanities course 1 course unit
- Quantitative Reasoning course 1 course unit
- General elective 1 course unit

*Arabic 151 and 152: Chinese 151 and 152; Japanese 151 and 152; Persian 151 and 152; and Russian 151 and 152 are intensive courses and carry two course units of credit each. Students should take this into account when planning a normal four-course semester.

Students exempted from WRI 102 should take a liberal learning course.

Second Year

- 300-level History course 1 course unit
- Language* 2 course units
- ECO 102/Principles of Macroeconomics 1 course unit
- Economics or International Business course 1 course unit
- Arts/Humanities course 1 course unit
- Natural Science/Quantitative Reasoning course 1 course unit
- General elective 1 course unit

*Arabic 151 and 152: Chinese 151 and 152; Japanese 151 and 152; Persian 151 and 152; and Russian 151 and 152 are intensive courses and carry two course units of credit each. Students should take this into account when planning a normal four-course semester.

Third Year

At least one semester of the third year is spent studying abroad.

- 300-level Political Science course 1 course unit
- Language* 1 course unit
- Electives in the major 1 course unit
- Arts/Humanities course 1 course unit
- Natural Science/Quantitative Reasoning course 1 course unit
International Studies-14

General electives 3 course units

*Arabic 151 and 152; Chinese 151 and 152; Japanese 151 and 152; Persian 151 and 152; and Russian 151 and 152 are intensive courses and carry two course units of credit each. Students should take this into account when planning a normal four-course semester.

Fourth Year

300-level History course 1 course unit
300-level Political Science course 1 course unit
INT 498/Senior Seminar in International Studies 1 course unit
Elective in the major 1 course unit
General electives 4 course units
