The English liberal arts curriculum is designed to provide intensive study in literature, language, and writing. The department also offers a professional track in secondary education, and one in journalism and professional writing, as well as minors in English, journalism, professional writing, and creative writing. Any of these programs can be meaningfully combined with majors or minors in such fields as history, international studies, psychology, marketing, modern languages, philosophy, elementary or early childhood education, and education of the deaf and hard of hearing.

The English program offers a broad range of courses in literature, language, film, and writing, allowing students to design programs appropriate to their goals and interests. The English major is excellent preparation for careers in journalism, public relations, law, management, teaching, or any occupation that requires verbal skills. It is also one of the best preparations for graduate and professional schools, and many of our students go on to advanced study at universities across the country.

Program Entrance, Retention, and Exit Standards

Every major program at the College has set standards for allowing students to remain in that program, to transfer within the College from one program to another, and to graduate from a program. The following are the standards for English programs. Minimum grades are noted in parentheses.

For students in English: Liberal Arts and English: Secondary Education program

Retention in the program is based on the following performance standard in three foundation courses: LIT 200/Introduction to Poetry (C); LIT 201/Approaches to Literature (C); LIT 217/Issues in Multicultural Literature (C).

- Students wishing to transfer into any English Department program from another program within the College are required to submit an application by September 15 for admission into Spring courses and February 15 for admission into Fall courses. Please consult the department website for more information about the application process.
- Graduation requirements: all English Department and correlate courses (C-).

For students in English: Journalism and Professional Writing program

Retention in the program is based on the following performance standard in two foundation courses: JPW 208/Introduction to Journalism (C) and JPW 250/Introduction to Professional Writing (C).

- Students wishing to transfer into any English Department program from another program within the College are required to submit an application by September 15 for admission into Spring courses and February 15 for admission into Fall courses. Please consult the department website for more information about the application process.
- Graduation requirements: all English Department and correlate courses (C-).
English Major Learning Goals

At the end of their program of study, English-Liberal Arts students should be able to:

1. Demonstrate an understanding of the power of words by reading critically, interpreting responsibly, writing and speaking with clarity and grace, reasoning intelligently, and arguing thoughtfully and persuasively for a range of audiences and purposes;

2. Exhibit the kind of intellectual independence and sustained, critical thought required for the production of high-quality literary, linguistic, textual and/or rhetorical scholarship, using the current resources available for conducting primary and secondary research in the discipline of English;

3. Discover, assert, and insert their own critical “voice” in ongoing dialogues, critiques, and debates—both oral and written, general and specific—that characterize the discipline of English, including debates over aesthetic value, literary historiography, and disciplinary politics;

4. Apply linguistic, literary, rhetorical, and cultural theory to texts and their contexts in order to elucidate complex issues and to suggest additional avenues of critical inquiry;

5. Demonstrate their understanding of major linguistic processes and subsystems, appreciating the importance of data collection in language study;

6. Bring their understanding of language to bear on their discussions of writing, whether literary or otherwise;

7. Recognize the impact of cultural environments upon language, respecting and understanding language diversity;

8. Demonstrate familiarity with a significant body of texts within—and on the margins of—a variety of literary traditions (e.g., British, American, continental European, Asian, African American, and Latin American); and

9. Demonstrate sensitivity to the concrete historicity of texts and to the development of literary traditions, cultural values, modes of thought, and uses of language over time.

The following program requirements apply to students entering the program beginning in the fall of 2009. Student enrolled before that will follow the program for the year they entered the College.

English Major: Liberal Arts

- Three foundational courses to be taken in the freshman or sophomore year:
  - LIT200/Introduction to Poetry 1 course unit
  - LIT 201/Approaches to Literature 1 course unit
  - LIT 217/Issues in Multicultural Literature 1 course unit

- Three courses from the department’s offerings in literary history. At least one of these courses must focus on literature before the Restoration. See the department website or newsletter for the list of approved courses.

- Three additional English electives (selected from LIT, LNG, JPW, CWR courses and others by advisement)

- Two Seminars (LIT 499/Seminar in Research and Theory), typically one in the junior and one in the senior year.

- Only five courses at the 200 level (and none below the 200 level) will apply to the English-Liberal Arts major.

Total for major 11 course units
Suggested First-Year Sequence (English: Liberal Arts)

FSP  First Seminar (Fall Semester) 1 course unit
LIT  200/Introduction to Poetry (Fall Semester) 1 course unit
LIT  201/Approaches to Literature (Spring Semester) 1 course unit
LIT  217/Issues in Multicultural Literature 1 course unit
Liberal Learning * 1 course unit
Liberal Learning * 1 course unit
Liberal Learning 1 course unit
Liberal Learning (or WRI 102, if required) 1 course unit

*It is recommended that students not exempted from the foreign language requirement take courses to meet that requirement. Note: Arabic 151 and 152, Chinese 151 and 152, Japanese 151 and 152, and Russian 151 and 152 (offered annually); and Persian 151 and 152 (offered occasionally) are intensive courses and carry two course units of credit each. Students should take this into account when planning a normal four-course semester.

English Major: Secondary Education

An overview of the entire secondary-level teacher preparation sequence for students can be found in the section of this bulletin for the Department of Education Administration and Secondary Education.

Students planning to teach secondary-level English should consult with advisors in both English and secondary education in planning their academic program. These plans should take into account requirements for: the major, liberal learning, professional courses, and state certification. To be retained in the program, a student must earn at least a 2.5 cumulative grade point average (CGPA) before enrolling in the junior year education sequence. The student must establish a minimum 2.75 CGPA, and must have completed all required courses in the major in order to be allowed to student teach. Candidates for a teacher-education certificate must have a 2.75 or higher cumulative grade point average to successfully complete their teacher education program. They also must meet the state hygiene/physiology requirement, the state Harassment, Intimidation, and Bullying Prevention (HIB) training certificate requirement, and pass the appropriate Praxis examination. Teacher-education candidates will receive a “certificate of eligibility with advanced standing” which requires a candidate to be provisionally certified for his or her first year of teaching. After one year of successful teaching, the candidate is eligible for a permanent certificate.

The Department of English also offers a new 5-year program leading to both BA and MA degrees for students majoring in English: Teaching. This accelerated program will offer candidates the opportunity to graduate in 5 years with a BA in English, Secondary Teaching Certification in English (grades 6-12), and an MA in English. Enrolled students will benefit in many ways: with 10 graduate seminars, they will possess far more core content knowledge about literature, literary theory, and language; and with a graduate degree, they will be more competitive in local, regional, and national job markets. With just one extra year of study, future teachers can market themselves as “highly qualified” secondary school teachers of English and Language Arts.

English majors whose first major is Elementary, Early Childhood, Deaf and Hard of Hearing Education, or Special Education must complete the requirements for the English: Teaching program.

English Major: Secondary Education

LIT 476 (1 course unit) or
LIT 477 (2 course units)/Honors in English

Departmental Honors is open to any English major with a GPA in English Department courses of at least 3.5 or the permission of the Associate Chair. Students should have senior standing—i.e., they should have completed 24 course units.

Honors projects, which usually take the form of a multi-chapter critical thesis, are written under the supervision of a faculty advisor. The departmental honors committee will approve project proposals and evaluate the completed work in conjunction with the faculty advisor. Students writing an Honors thesis are exempt from taking a second LIT 499. For more information, please consult the Policies page of the English Department website.
Academic Advisement in English

Each student is responsible for following departmental advisement procedures. Students will be assigned an academic advisor whose name will appear in their PAWS accounts. Advisors will publicize the times when they are available for conferences, but students are responsible for taking the initiative to arrange conferences with the advisor each semester during the registration period and whenever academic questions arise. The members of the English department believe that proper advisement is vital to the academic well-being of majors. The purposes of these conferences are to assure that: 1) the student is taking the appropriate courses to meet the College’s academic requirements; 2) the student is pursuing those courses best suited to his or her career goals; and 3) the student will have a source of mature advice in handling whatever academic difficulties he or she may be encountering. Advisors will maintain files on each advisee, containing program planners, transcripts, test scores, a record of their attendance at advising sessions, and other relevant data.
