

The College of New Jersey's
Master of Education in Educational Leadership/Instruction
Offered in Partnership with the Regional Training Center

1. When can I apply for the TCNJ/RTC Master of Education?

TCNJ Graduate Studies has extended admission deadlines for Summer and Fall 2009. Deadlines are as follows:

July 1st - Summer admission

August 15th - Fall admission

Applications will be reviewed until seats are filled. For priority consideration, apply early!

2. Do I apply through TCNJ or RTC?

Applications will be submitted to TCNJ by the appropriate admission deadlines. Visit The Office of Graduate Studies' website at www.tcnj.edu/graduate to apply online. Admission deadlines and requirements are also available on this site.

3. Are there any special instructions for the TCNJ application process?

Applicants to the RTCM program must submit the following required items:

Online application for matriculation

Personal Essay

Official Transcripts

Application fee

2 letters of recommendation

GRE scores (waived for individuals who hold a previous master's degree)

Copy of teacher certification

Resume

Individual's applying to this Master of Education should choose the degree/program listed as, MEd RTCM Ed Ldr/Instruction (EDAD_MED05).

Applicants should note that a $70 nonrefundable application fee will be required. Any applicant who has previously taken RTC courses for TCNJ credit is considered to have previously attended TCNJ and will not be required to pay the application fee.

Applicants should be sure to provide a complete, thoughtful, reflective and well-written Personal Essay. In addition to a brief autobiographic statement, the essay should include some sense of the applicant's current questions and challenges related to their teaching.

Applicants may also wish to address how they expect the master's program to address those concerns, as well as where they anticipate their own "learning curve" within the program.

Whenever possible, applicants should provide recommendations from individuals who can speak to their professional experience as teachers and/or academic abilities and potential as learners.

Applications must be complete by the application deadline in order to be reviewed. A complete application is one in which the online portion has been submitted and ALL supplemental documents (including test scores) have been received by the Office of Graduate Studies.

4. Is the Graduate Record Exam (GRE) a requirement?

Yes, unless the prospective student holds a master's degree. A listing of GRE test dates and locations can be obtained from ETS by calling 1.800.GRE.CALL or by visiting www.gre.org. When taking the GRE, prospective students should request that scores be sent directly to TCNJ by indicating the code # R2519.

5. Can I start taking RTC courses before I apply to TCNJ?

Yes. However, no more than two (2) RTC courses taken at any RTC location (ie: NJ, PA, MD) will be applied to the MEd. Courses must fulfill either the Core or chosen Focus Option requirements to be applied to the MEd. Students intending to apply for matriculation into the MEd program, should not exceed this two (2) course limit.

6. Can I transfer directly from the Gratz or Washington program to TCNJ's program with all my credits?

As stated above, individuals may only apply two (2) courses taken at any RTC location (ie: NJ, PA, MD). This includes courses within the Gratz or Washington program. Action Research courses from Gratz or Washington are not transferable. Courses must fulfill either the Core or chosen Focus Option requirements to be approved for transfer.

7. Can courses from other institutions be transferred into this MEd?

No.

8. Will RTC courses taken prior to Jan. 1, 2003 be accepted?

Courses completed before January 1, 2003 will be subject to an administrative review and may not be accepted into the MEd program.

9. If I did complete a core or focus course before January 2003 will I have to take it over again? What are my options?

Core or Focus Option courses taken before January 1, 2003, and not approved for transfer, may be repeated or another approved RTC course may be substituted to fulfill the credit requirements.

10. Is there an order in which courses must be taken?

Instructional Core and Focus Option courses may be taken in any sequence. However, Classroom Action Research courses are taken sequentially. It is strongly recommended that students take EDUC 510 early in the program (prior to completing 12 credits). Additionally, EDUC 601 and EDUC 602 should be taken at the mid and near end points of the program. Please see Classroom Action Research Core: Course Overview for further details – <http://www.tcnj.edu/~graduate/regional.html>.

NOTE: All accepted students are required to have an academic advisement session (in person or via phone) with the Director of the MEd program to further discuss an academic plan.

11. Are all three Classroom Action Research courses scheduled on-campus or can they be completed on-line?

While scheduling sites may vary, Classroom Action Research courses are not offered on-line.

12. Do I register for the Classroom Action Research courses in the same way I do the RTC courses or do I have to register directly with TCNJ?

Registration for all courses, including the Classroom Action Research courses, will be scheduled through RTC.

13. Are the Classroom Action Research courses held on campus during the week, like other TCNJ graduate courses or are they held on the weekends and during the summer like RTC courses?

Scheduling of Classroom Action Research courses differs from traditional TCNJ and RTC courses. Classroom Action Research courses are scheduled over two or three nonconsecutive weekends during the school year. Summer courses are scheduled on weekdays over two (consecutive or non-consecutive) weeks. Each Classroom Action Research Course meets for five (5) full days.

14. Will I have to pay full tuition and fees for courses taken at TCNJ or will I be paying the RTC rate?

Students in this program will be paying the RTC rate for all courses. However, additional fees may apply for semesters in which students are registered for a Classroom Action Research course. Such fees may include a $10.00 Student ID fee, a $39.00 computing access fee, and a $25.50 student center fee (fees subject to change). Such fees will allow students to take advantage of campus services such as computer labs, lounge areas and the College's newly renovated Library. Should students in this program wish to enroll in additional TCNJ courses not required for this program, regular TCNJ graduate tuition will be charged.

15. Are there any additional fees associated with the TCNJ program?

In addition to the application fee and student fees (see above), a $75 graduation fee is due upon completion of the program when an application for graduation is filed (fees subject to change and late fees will apply).

16. Is Financial Aid available from The College of New Jersey?

No, students in this program are not eligible for financial aid through The College of New Jersey. As students pay the Regional Training Center directly for tuition, The College cannot process FAFSA requests. Please note that student loans should be available through your bank.

17. Will I need to attend an Orientation Program if accepted?

Accepted students are provided with a URL for an on-line virtual orientation. This site provides such information as, obtaining a student ID number, setting up an email account and applying for graduation. This information will also be covered in the initial advisement session.

18. Will I need to provide The College with health/immunization information?

Any student who matriculates into the RTCM program must return the health/immunization forms provided with the acceptance packet (regardless of course site location). This information must be submitted to the Office of Health Services prior to the start of classes, per NJ State law.

19. How long will it take me to finish this degree program?

Most students will finish this Master of Education program in 2-3 years. Students have a maximum of 6 years to finish this program.

20. Can I take a leave of absence from the program?

If a situation arises in which an accepted student must cease coursework for more than one semester a Leave of Absence form must be filed with The Office of Records and Registration indicating the duration of the leave and the intended date of return. Once the leave period is over, the student must contact The Office of Records and Registration to restore active student status. Please visit <http://www.tcnj.edu/~graduate/RTCMVOrient.html> and scroll to "Leave of Absence" for the online form.

PLEASE NOTE: A leave of absence is different than a withdrawal from the program. A withdrawal is a permanent leave with no intention to resume study. If a student wishes to re-enter the program after a withdrawal is completed, a new application for admission must be filed with the Office of Graduate Studies (by the stated deadlines).
